

Welcome to Allied Express

Allied Express came from small beginnings and grew to become Australia's largest, independently-owned courier and express freight company.

We did this, not by corporate acquisition or public float; but by starting out with an operational ethic that was squarely focused on providing what the customer saw as good service. In all the years since, we have never retreated from giving our utmost to maintaining that focus no matter how big we have become.

We did it also by taking the attitude that, when we deliver a client's products, we work for them; their clients become our clients and their reputation as a reliable supplier becomes ours. Allied will work within your delivery environment and your business culture to achieve an outcome of which you would be proud.

If you need wide coverage to out-of-the-way locations to meet your customer's needs, then that's what we'll bring to the table. If your customers' delivery demands operate on a hair-trigger, we just shift into another of many gears to become a transport provider who can keep pace, no matter what, and get the job done.

Allied has both the flexibility and the responsiveness to accommodate those opposites comfortably and with confidence.

In fact, if defining the difference that partnering with Allied brings came down to a single point, it would be this; it doesn't matter what delivery profile matches your company need; a kilo across the city at the drop of a hat or a pallet across the country in less time than you thought possible, Allied can do it and do it brilliantly.
